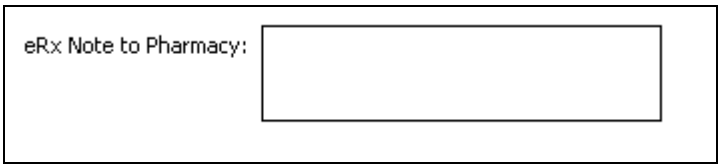
Electronic Prescription Upgrade

Children's is making a required change on September 10th, 2013 that will affect how prescriptions are electronically sent to the pharmacy. Enhancements to the new format will ensure that the prescriber's instructions for use of the product are understood.

Because of these changes, we have been working on removing obsolete orders from Cerner. A few of your favorites may be missing, so you may need to search for them and resave them.

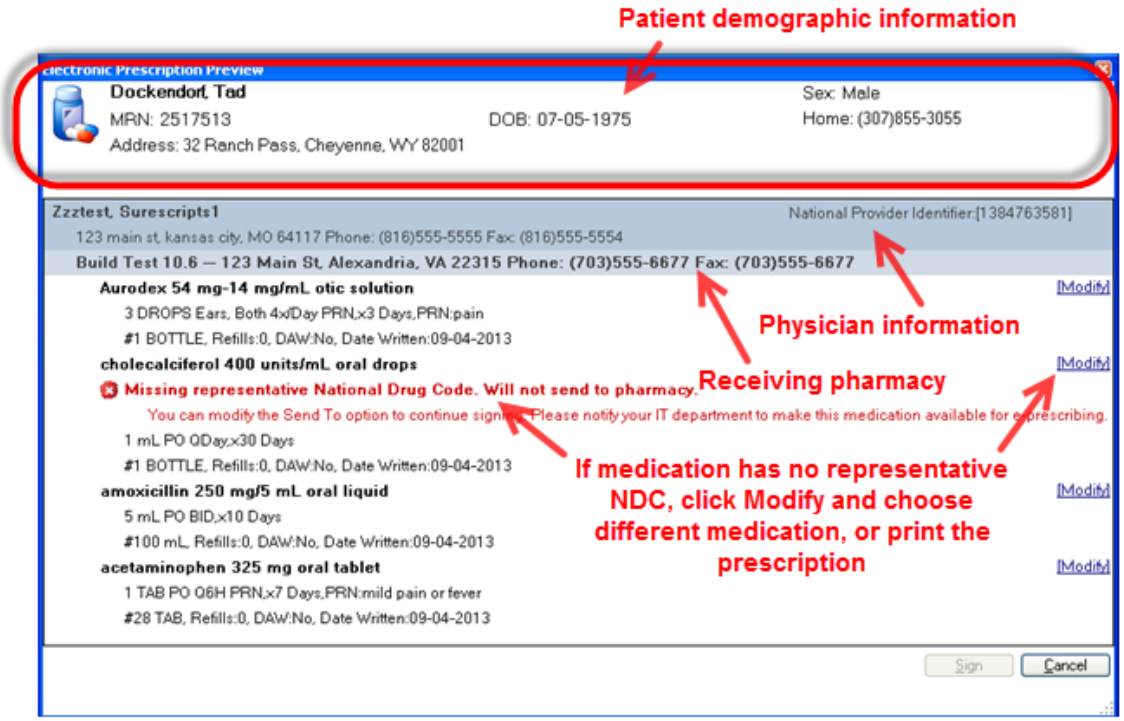
New Functionality

During the ordering process, you will see a new optional field called "eRx Note to Pharmacy". In this field you can enter a message for the pharmacy, such as to "fill the med in two bottles for school supply", etc.



After signing your orders, if you have selected to route the prescriptions to a pharmacy, a new Electronic Prescription Review window will display. You have the option to modify orders from this window.

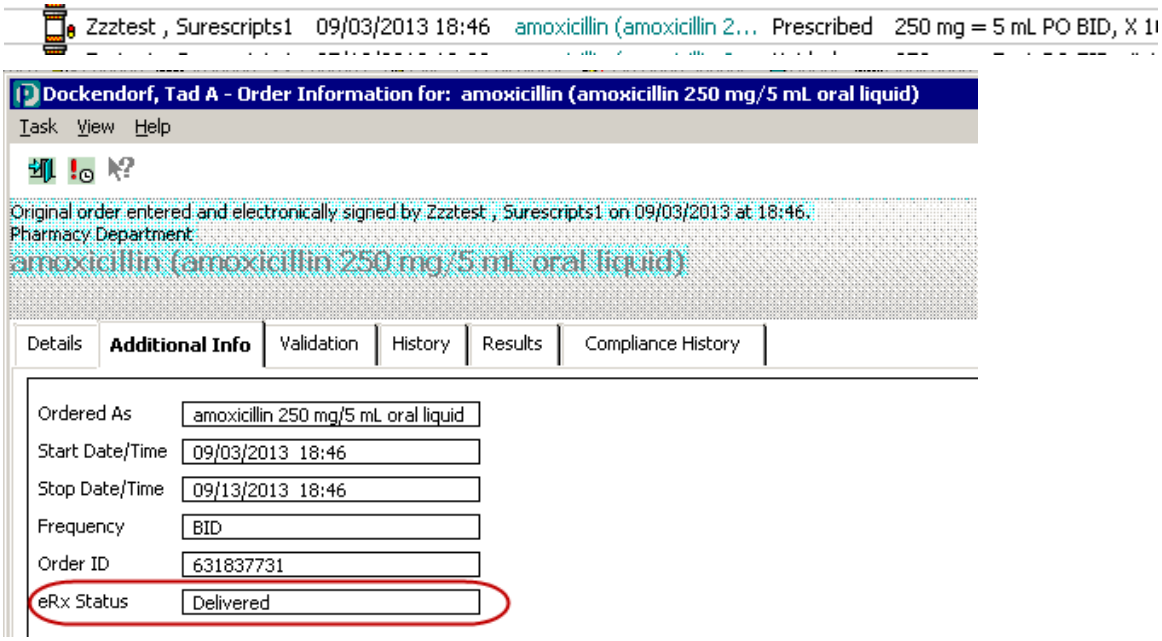
After signing, the Electronic Prescription Review screen displays for provider review.



- Some orders, such as compound medications or medication supplies that have been selected to go to a pharmacy, will be electronically faxed; you will not see them on the review screen. Other medications may need to be printed because they do not have a codified "representative National Drug Code".
- Controlled substances will still print on paper.

In addition, you can view if the prescription has been received by the pharmacy by clicking on the blue order name and accessing the Additional Info tab.

Click on the blue link on the order row:



Routing errors will still display in your Inbox.
